

THE RESTROOM IS A WINDOW TO THE KITCHEN

There are many different ways to approach a restroom program.
Here are some of the trends and considerations you should be aware of.

Different Approaches

1. The Cleanliness

and neatness of the restroom in a restaurant is a reflection on the entire operation. If the restroom is clean, neat and organized it will suggest to your customers that the kitchen is in the same condition. Likewise if it is messy, dirty and full of odors it would suggest that the kitchen is probably in the same shape. Need we say more?

2. Automation is and has been a huge trend in our industry. People have become very self conscious of the germs that can be transmitted when touching surfaces in a public restroom. Therefore they will go to great lengths not to touch urinal and toilet bowl flush handles, towel dispenser levers, door knobs and other surfaces. Sometime they may use their feet to flush, their elbows to activate the towel dispenser and a piece of paper towel in their hand to open the door.

Why not make it more comfortable and completely automate your restroom.

Another benefit to an automated restroom is that there is less physical contact on all fixtures therefore less finger prints which mean the restroom stays cleaner longer.

3. Environmental issues are another consideration. Many questions are being asked, such as what are you doing to help sustain the environment. It is possible to build a program that utilizes the three "R's": Reduce, Reuse, and Recycle. We should look at water and energy use along with paper towel and toilet tissue consumption and the recycle content of all products. We should also consider products that have been manufactured with a "Green" mindset.

4. Cost is another consideration when selecting a restroom program. We will compare the costs of Current vs. Automated or Green Seal Systems. Many times we can Automate and save money at the same time.
